

2ND PLACE GripHero Anti-Static Hand Protection by GripHero

GripHero is a new hand-protection dispenser that enables drivers to avoid contact with contaminants on fuel handles. It dispenses the world's first anti-static, fully recyclable hand-protection solution, which sits on top of each and every fuel nozzle on the forecourt - putting an end to a lack of hand-protection experienced by four out of five drivers. Thanks to GripHero, drivers can retrieve and wear hand-protection without first coming into contact with fuel handles, which are typically 11,000 times dirtier than the average loo seat.

Unlike other forms of hand-protection, GripHero ensures that only one item is dispensed at a time, putting an end to wasteful clumps of gloves - common among conventional dispensers - that cause a lack of hand-protection for other customers, and unnecessary levels of plastic waste.

GripHero has been created to put the health and wellbeing of the customer at the heart of the forecourt, both in the prevention of biological and chemical contamination from the nozzle, and the prevention of potential ignition caused by static from standard gloves in the refuelling zone.

When you consider that, on average, each pump handle comes into contact with over 200 different hands in one week, each one getting dirtier than the last and passing on contamination, you soon realise how important it is to have a dispenser on every fuel nozzle.

They said:

We are thrilled to have won second place in the prestigious Tomorrow's Health & Safety Award. Having only launched GripHero at the start of October 2018, this award is a fantastic endorsement for our innovative fuel pump handle hand-protection dispenser, recycling bin and range of eco-friendly hand-protection options for the forecourt.

For us, this recognition highlights the positive impact of GripHero, which not only helps drivers' limit the risk of coming into contact with dirty or contaminated fuel handles on a daily basis, but also prevents the risk of ignition in the refuelling zone through use of the world's first anti-static hand-protection material in our dispensers.

You said:

"Very clever idea, makes so much sense for the gloves to be positioned on the actual nozzles."

"The smell of fuel on my hands gives me a headache. This is a great product, no more smelly hands."

3RD PLACE RRC International Online Courses by RRC International

RRC provides a range of health and safety and environmental management training courses to meet the needs of organisations seeking to improve their performance as well as individuals looking to achieve internationally recognised qualifications or improve their skills and knowledge.

RRC's health & safety courses are available by classroom training in the UK, Dubai, Georgia, Ghana, Spain, Sudan, Tunisia & Turkey and distance/e-learning worldwide.

All courses are delivered in-company worldwide at venues to suit clients' needs.

RRC has successfully trained more than 60,000 people in 208 countries, providing in-company training and consultancy to over 225 organisations. With a 90-year track record of excellence in education, RRC has 45 years' experience in designing and delivering H&S courses.

They said:

RRC Managing Director Gary Fallaize said: We are delighted to have won third place in the Tomorrow's Health and Safety Awards 2019. Being nominated and recognised for our online courses is a credit to our continual hard work. We are a global leader in high quality health & safety and environmental management training and consultancy. Our experience and expertise, gained over 90 years, allows us to provide our clients with internationally-respected classroom, online and in-company training solutions that really make a difference to their HSE performance.

With special thanks to our Course Development team, and associate tutors that have positively contributed to our recently improved and updated online courses.

You said:

"I have been associated with RRC for over 20 years and they maintain the highest of standards and integrity in all the products and services they deliver. They deserve recognition!"

"Outstanding service overall, great and helpful staff and the online learning platform is one of the best I've used!"

"This company is so professional and there to help you from start to finish in anything that you do. I would not think of going anywhere else."