

PPE badge of honour for Dimensions

The UK's largest uniform solutions provider, Dimensions, has increased its commitment towards being a responsible PPE supplier with admittance onto the British Safety Industry Federation's (BSIF) Registered Safety Supplier Scheme.

Hayley Brooks, managing director of Dimensions, said: "Since becoming members of the BSIF, we have been working towards being registered as a safety supplier on the scheme.

"We are delighted that we are now officially on the RSSS register, by displaying the RSSS shield we are illustrating our credibility, trustworthiness and expertise in safety supply."

NEBOSH top-up certificates

Achieving any of the NEBOSH Certificates is a huge success and can improve future career prospects. However, another benefit is that if students have been awarded the NEBOSH National or International General, Construction or Fire Certificate in the last five years they are exempt from Unit IGC1/NGC1, and can gain a further NEBOSH Certificate by simply 'topping-up' by completing the appropriate second unit.

All RRC NEBOSH General, Fire and Construction Certificate courses are unitised so can be topped up by classroom training or an online course. Having two or more NEBOSH Certificates helps individuals to stand out to employers and can improve career prospects by having this additional specialised knowledge.
